DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 17-25 have been withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 10/17/2006.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 3, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, and 16 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim should refer to other claims in the alternative only. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, claims 3, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, and 16 have not been further treated on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

5. A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. See MPEP § 2173.05(c). Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claim 7 recites the broad recitation "the balls or the hollow balls are composed of ceramic", and the claim also recites "preferably of aluminum nitride" which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1, 2, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Vanaglash (US 3,933,712).

In regards to claims 1-2, Vanaglash discloses an encapsulating material that is used in electrical components (col. 1 lines 7-12). The encapsulating material has desirable electrical and mechanical properties for encapsulating electronic components and integrated circuits (col. 2 lines 24-28). The encapsulating material is a mixture of glass sphere fillers with a predetermined distribution of external diameters (col. 4 lines 52-68).

In regards to claim 7, Vanaglash discloses that aluminum oxide, silica or calcium carbonate can also be used (col. 5 lines 22-24), thus balls composed of ceramic.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) a patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Vanaglash (US 3,933,712) in view of Nonken (US 3,812,314).

Vanaglash discloses an encapsulating material that is used in electrical components (col. 1 lines 7-12). The encapsulating material has desirable electrical and mechanical properties for encapsulating electronic components and integrated circuits (col. 2 lines 24-28). The encapsulating material is a mixture of glass sphere fillers with a predetermined distribution of external diameters (col. 4 lines 52-68).

Vanaglash is silent with the method in that at least one switching chamber is provided with a cast surround composed of a first encapsulation compound, and is then encapsulated together with connections into a block composed of at least one second encapsulation compound such as silicone, soft epoxy or plastics.

Nonken discloses a molded plastic bushing for high electrical power applications is provided with an encapsulated vacuum (abstract). The bushing comprises an elongated, molded housing of electrically insulated epoxy resin (col. 2 lines 65-67). The wall member (first encapsulation) is coated with either a cured or uncured layer of bonding material of "soft" epoxy prior to molding the epoxy resin (second encapsulation) around the vacuum switch (col. 4 lines 49-67). It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to combine the method of forming a switching device as described by Nonken with the epoxy resin of Vanaglash, because the combination would produce a switching device with enhanced mechanical and electrical properties that are used for vacuum switches and electrical components.
